Attention

You are prohibited from saving (including capturing), sound-recording, video-recording, and redistributing the transmitted videos and released material.

If you need to save those data, please obtain permission from all relevant parties in advance, such as the speaker and the organizer.

The copyrights of submitted extended abstracts belong to the Japan Society of Applied Physics.

The submitted extended abstracts will be published in the conference web program, extended abstracts DVD and J-STAGE (an online platform for Japanese academic journals provided by Japan Science and Technology Agency).

The abstracts submitted to the JSAP-Optica Symposia (held only in the autumn meeting) will be also published in the Optica Publishing Group Digital Library.

*The extended abstracts DVD will be published in a small volume and available for purchase. The DVD will not be distributed to the participants.

Citation/Reuse

The method of citation and reuse is the same whether the event is held online or at a physical location.

●Citation

A citation refers to, for example, a case in which a person, to bolster their argument, uses another person's writing and explains that writing. Citations can be made without permission of the author provided that certain legal requirements are met

These legal requirements are as follows:

- [1] The material cited has already been made public.
- [2] The citation is compatible with "fair practices"
- [3] The use is within a scope "justified for the purpose of news reporting, critique, study, or other place in which the work is quoted."
- [4] "The master-servant" relation between the citation and other parts is clear.
- [5] The citation is made clear with the use of square brackets (Japanese-style quotation marks).
- [6] A citation is necessary.
- [7] A clear indication of the source is necessary. (There is an established practice to indicate a source, although the issue is not applicable to the production of duplicates.) (Article 48)

Copyrights/Citation Instructions

The above (on the previous page) requirements must be satisfied (Article 32, Paragraph 1).

Regarding requirements [2] and [3], the minimum requirements are that it has been clarified in judicial precedents, that one's own work and the work of another are clearly distinguished (clarification of the citation), that one's own work is the primary constituent part, and the cited work is subservient (the master–servant relation), and that there is a considerable reason why citation is necessary (the necessity).

- It is our belief that the Japan Society of Applied Physics is not subject to Article 35 of the Copyright Act, as we are not an educational institution, and our presentations are not intended for teaching.

- Portrait Rights, Publicity Rights, Ownership Rights, Site Management Rights

When posting a photo of a person, obtain the person's permission, or process the person's face in such a way that the person cannot be identified (portrait rights).

Never use a photo of an entertainer or a celebrity (publicity rights).

Do not use photos or video clips of shrines, temples, works of art, etc. even if you have taken them yourself (ownership rights/site management rights).

- Please be careful when using figures and tables taken directly from a book, instead of an academic paper. There are many cases in which publishers hold copyrights to figures and tables that they have created themselves. For this reason, you may not be able to disseminate such figures and tables even if you have obtained permission from the author.

- As for the cover page and pictures of a book, consult the publisher and abide by their proposed conditions.
